the stem right above the fruit has the greatest concentration, you scrape it to cause a little wound and then collect the sap that oozes out.

and she recently published a recipe book.

this is a moisturizer, toner and sun screen, all rolled into one.